Bottoms Up

1 - ∞ players; 30sec - 20min
(suitable for any persons, allowed to have cocktails ;)

Aim of the game

Silliness is the aim of the game of Bottoms Up. It's very simple - each player takes a glass and creates their own 'cocktail', using any of the available pieces. When you are done, turn the glass over and read your fantastically silly challenge.

Set up:

The set up for Bottoms Up is almost as easy as playing the game:

1. In the game you will find five different types of cocktail ingredients, marked with the numbers 1, 2, 3 and 4 as well as a set of garnishes. To set up the game, simply separate all the ingredients into 5 different piles, making sure only the ingredient names are visible and not the text on the back.
2. Give every player a cocktail glass. All done!

Play the game:

1. All players will create their cocktails at the same time. If you require the same ingredients and there aren't enough to go around, we recommend arm wrestling or a mince pie eating competition :)
2. Each player must pick an ingredient from every pile and arrange them in their glass, starting from the bottom with number one and continuing up with numbers 2, 3 and 4.
3. When you have filled up your glass and your cocktail is ready, you can pick a garnish to add to the top of your glass. This garnish will allow you to change one special thing about your challenge.
4. When all the players have completed their cocktails, turn them over and read your challenge. Now will be the time to use the special power your garnish gives you :)

Use this guide to decide what garnish to add to your cocktail:

Olive, mint leaf, jalapeno pepper and celery allow you to change any one of the ingredients in your cocktail with any of the remaining ingredients.

Strawberry, watermelon and cherry allow you to very nicely ask one of your fellow party goers to do your challenge for you :)

Ginger slice, lemon, orange and lime slices allow you to come up with a brand new object for the number 3 layer in your cocktail. You don't have to use another ingredient from the pile. Use your imagination to come up with any object you deem fitting, adorable or sufficiently ridiculous.
